TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1897.

FOR PRESIDENT IN 1888,

JAMES G. BLAINE,

OF MAINE.

Subject to the decision of the Republican National Convention.

"We always have the American flag above us and not below us."—James G. Blaine.

FRED GRANT'S CANDIDACY.

Indorsements by Blaine and General Sherman.

New York, October 24.—In a letter to Colonel Fred D. Grant, dated Paris, October 8th, Mr. Blaine said:

DEAR COLONEL GRANT: At the time the Republican State Convention of New York was held I was in the eastern part of Europe, beyond the range of telegraphic intelligence from the United States. I had therefore no opportunity at that time to cable my congratulations to yourself and associates on the State ticket. I hope it is not too late to extend assurances of my heartiest sympathy with your candidacy and to express a most earnest desire for the success of a ticket so eminently deserving the support of every true Republican in New York. Regretting sincerely that absence from home deprives me of the power of actively aiding your interesting and important canvass, I am most sincerely yours,

JAMES G. BLAINE.

General Sherman, in conversation with a friend on Saturday, remarked that not being a voter in New York, he felt a delicacy in expressing publicly his preference for any candidate in the approaching elections. As to Colonel Fred Grant, he knew his father as a great General, as a cadet, as a Lieutenant, Captain, General and President, and thinks the son remarkably like the father at the same age in personal appearance, mental qualities and kindly nature, and believes that in anything he undertakes he will do better than he promises without meddling with what is none of his business. General Sherman does not wish his silence to be construed in prejudice of any member of the family of his life-long friend General Grant, and therefore is willing to be known as friendly to the election of Colonel Fred to the office of Secretary of New York.

The Country's Finances.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—A Washington special to the Press reports Secretary Fairchild as saying that he has figures to show that during the past fifteen months the amount of money in the hands of the people has increased over $103,000,000. The Government holds that much less money than it did fifteen months ago. The surplus in the hands of the Government is less than $25,000,000. Of his forthcoming report Mr. Fairchild says that it will be short, its recommendations having more relation to the policy of the Administration than simply to the workings of the department.

A Chicago paper makes the following point: "From the annual statement of the Treasury Department it appears that Illinois has paid to the United States in customs $4,694,352 and for internal revenues $24,815,436. She has received in public buildings $144,277; improving harbors, $84,000; river improvements, $93,200." A comparative statement of California's account with the Government would make a similar showing.

The Oakland (Douglas county, Or.) Enterprise of October 21st says: Detective Morris Davis, of San Francisco, the fugitive witness, whose testimony is so much desired in the Morrow embezzlement case, now on trial in San Francisco, passed through town last Thursday, in company with another San Francisco "blood," en route to Portland.

The dwellers around the Great Lakes were shivering in a blinding snowstorm yesterday while San Franciscans were sitting with doors and windows open or enjoying the warm sunshine in the parks and suburbs.

The trial of James McCord, on a charge of attempting to bribe the jury in the case of Florence Wright vs. the Geary-street Railroad Company, was commenced in Judge Sullivan's Court Monday morning.

The issue of standard silver dollars from the mints during the week ended October 22d was 983,000. The shipments of fractional silver coin since the 1st inst. amount to $751,000.

Judge Sullivan Monday morning sentenced John T. Emerson, the self-confessed jury-briber, to five years in San Quentin, the full penalty of the law.

It is stated that the marriage of Secretary Bayard and Miss Sophia Markie will take place early in the winter.

THE MAN AND THE OPPORTUNITIES.

The San Francisco Bulletin says:

The death of Elihu Washburn will remind many of the great opportunities which came in his life. One was when he set the late General Grant on his feet. The latter had not been a successful man for various reasons. One was that no great opportunity had been presented to him. The small opportunities had not been much improved. Grant did not know himself fully. He had drifted around, had been stationed on the northwest Pacific Coast, and finally had thrown up his commission. Men who have been educated at West Point have great opportunities in war and very few in peace. Promotion comes slow. Many West Point men throw up their commissions. Enormous remain to fill all the places needed (time of peace). General Grant was ready to serve his country at the breaking out of the Civil War. That was also true of many local politicians. They all wanted to be Brigadier-Generals. Many of them were wholly inefficient. A sample of these was furnished by General McClelland, of Illinois, who had to be sent home for disobedience and inefficiency. General Grant never needed one powerful friend so much as just when he was about to offer his services as a military man to the Federal authorities. He was a secure, and had no personal influence. Elihu Washburn was not obscure. He had become a prominent man in Congress. He was a friend of Lincoln, and everywhere recognized as a strong man. Washburn knew Grant. He knew his habits and all his characteristics. He knew also, probably better than any man in all the West, that there was good stuff in Grant. The opportunity came to befriend the man—to give him a strong backing. Grant was set upon his feet. There was one man who from that hour of commitment stood by Grant. It was Elihu Washburn, the life-long friend of Lincoln. But Grant, like every other man, had to start with his own opportunity and work his way up. What he wanted was a start—to be planted on solid ground, and to find that at least there was one man in the wide world who would not forsake him. Elihu Washburn rendered a service to the country which has only been surpassed by the splendid record of Grant. He found a man, set him on his feet, and won over the confidence and friendship of Lincoln for his protégé. The results justified his faith in the man. The greatest General of modern times might have been smothered in embryo. Washburn might not have fully measured the greatness of his opportunity. It is enough to say that he saw it and did not let it go by unimproved. It is not given to many men to render such service to their country. Two friends stood by Grant from the hour—Washburn and Lincoln. They were powerful influences at work to plant him. He was sometimes snubbed and overruled by jealous military chiefs who were for a time set over him. Grant, like Washburn, had great opportunities. He was equal to these.

The other great opportunity came. Elihu Washburn when he was the American Minister in Paris. Before that time he rendered a great and memorable service in Congress. His voice had been heard in the great West in behalf of the Union. He had been the trusted counselor of Lincoln. The latter chose him for the first place in the Cabinet. He was transferred at his own request to Paris. It was then that he became in a sense the representative of all nations. For not another Ambassador remained in Paris when that city was besieged by a hostile army. There were 20,000 helpless Germans to be sent home. There were also great numbers from other nations who needed protection. The flag of the American Minister was never struck. It waved and shot and shell and in the days of the worst famine. Washburn completed a record of his experiences and observations in the beleaguered city just before his death. Indeed, the announcement of the published record and the announcement of his death were almost simultaneous. The opportunity was given him not only to render a signal service, to become the friend and protector of all nationalities, but to witness the fall of an empire and the setting up of a Republic. Since Lincoln and Grant passed away, no other American official has departed with such an illustrious record. Events crowd in such quick succession that when a great man goes into retirement he loses himself, as we are in the mass of citizens. His services for a time may be overlooked. Even Presidents, when they retire from office, may drop into obscurity if they have rendered no great and signal service to the country. But Elihu Washburn has left behind such a record of courage, statesmanship and patriotism that his memory will be cherished by many generations.

Denis Kearney's Anti-Chinese Campaign.

New York, October 24.—Denis Kearney will address a circular letter to clergymen in this city asking them to make a tour of Mott street to witness Kearney's life in that precinct. He is planning to discuss the Chinese question jointly with Long Chin Foo of the Cooper Union.

The World says: Chinamen are very indignant over Denis Kearney's visit through their quarters and they have held a meeting to denounce Kearney and their consul. A formal protest will be sent to the Mayor in regard to the affair. The matter will be referred to legal advisers as to the advisability of the arrest of Kearney for forcible entrance and using abusive language while in Chinatown.

The news that the Union Pacific has given a $9 rate on salt to Butte, M. T., places the salt producers in a better frame of mind. The former rate was $12, which caused the Alice mill, which alone consumed 30,000 tons annually, to shut down. It is probable that the Alice will now resume, although the demand was for a $7.50 rate.

COMMISSIONER SPARKS.

A Rumor That His Resignation Has Been Demanded.

NEW YORK, October 23.—The Tribune's Washington special of October 22d says: The Department of the Interior was in a state of mingled exultation, depression and excitement to-day. It was all caused by the report that the resignation of General Sparks had been demanded by Secretary Lamar, by authority of the President, who had at last acquiesced after much objection to the proposed change. Some of the General's warmest partisans sorrowfully expressed their belief in the truth of the news, while in the offices near the Secretary's room the news was whispered with glee.

It is explained that the retirement of Sparks has become necessary, not only on account of lack of harmony between the interpretation of the law by him and Lamar, respectively, but also by the fact that the Commissioner in some cases had obstinately adhered to his own views in his official acts after the reversal of his decision by the Secretary of the Interior. It may turn out, however, as it did before, that a personal conference between the President and General Sparks will result in the latter's retention.

Railroad Ties of the Future.

The Department of Agriculture has just issued a pamphlet on the subject of railroad ties which contains interesting reading. The number of miles of railroad track in the United States—which must not be confounded with railroad mileage—is now reckoned at 187,000 miles. At 2,640 ties to the mile, this would give an aggregate number of 495,000,000 ties, each tie containing three cubic feet of wood; the total amount of cubic feet of wood consumed in ties would thus be 1,485,000,000. Add to this 375,000,000 cubic feet of wood consumed for bridge and trestle work, timber and poles, and we have an aggregate of 1,860,000,000 cubic feet, which is equal to 3,100,000,000 cubic feet of round timber. It is estimated that to furnish this quantity of timber one-fifth of the entire forest area of the United States was denuded, and has not been replaced. On many mountain sides, through which railroads run, a luxuriant growth of timber formerly shaded the soil and nursed springs which fed rivers; now the mountains are bare, and do not even grow grass or wild flowers. The trees have gone, apparently never to return.

But this is not all. The normal life of a hardwood tie is seven years, that of a softwood tie four years. Thus, without taking into account the difference between hard and soft wood ties, the railroads of the United States will require every year for maintenance of ties one-seventh of 495,000,000 ties, say 70,000,000 ties, and 425,000,000 cubic feet of timber for bridges, poles, trestles, etc.; in all, 254,600,000 cubic feet, in round numbers, for renewals. Besides this, if our increased mileage each year is only 5,000 miles, and it is likely to be much more, 51,100,000 cubic feet of timber will be required for new ties, bridge timber, poles, etc., making 305,700,000 cubic feet in all, equal to 509,500,000 feet of round timber. This is fully equal to the entire growth of new timber throughout the country, and leaves no timber for building purposes. It represents the entire product of 300,000,000 acres of fertile forest land.

It is evident that at this rate it is a mere question of a few years when the supply of timber will be exhausted and the United States, like Great Britain, will have to import lumber for construction. There are two remedies. One is to rouse the railroads to the necessity of setting apart land of their own for the growth of trees; the other is the use of some other material than wood for ties. The department has appealed to railroad managers throughout the country to get them to plant trees, but generally without success. An exception to the rule has been the Southern Pacific Company, which has planted many thousands of eucalyptus, catalpa and other trees on lands adjacent to its lines, with generally satisfactory results. In California, in the counties west of the Sierra, the experiments have been uniformly successful; on the Sierra the trees have not done so well, and in Arizona and New Mexico they have suffered, not as might have been expected from heat and drought, but from frost. Some promising plantations in Arizona have been seriously injured by frost. But on the whole the plantations are thriving, and when other corporations may be distressed for want of ties, the Southern Pacific will get all it needs from its own grounds.

Metal ties are in use in Holland, Switzerland and parts of Germany, and though the first cost is greater than that of wooden ties, the longer life of the tie compensates for the greater initial outlay. Iron ties last from thirty to fifty years. They should be not less than one hundred and twelve pounds in weight. The only road in America which uses them is the Mexican line from Vera Cruz to the City of Mexico. They are said to give entire satisfaction. It has been lately proposed to introduce them on the railroads of Maine.—S. F. Call.

The best counterfeit $5 gold piece ever seen in the West was received at the Government building in Chicago, October 12th, from Cuba, Ill., coming as part of the Postmaster's receipts from that point. It was perfect in form, size and weight and was marked as having been coined in 1855.

H. B. Maxon, Grand Chancellor, K. of P., of Arizona, came in on last night's train. His sister and child accompanied him.

C. J. Crowley, of Virginia City, went below last night and will be absent possibly 30 days. He speaks very flatteringly of the future outlook of the Comstock.

Monday morning the people of Virginia were paralyzed—the mail came in on time. The C. P. had evidently run short of fruit trains behind which to shove the Comstock mail.

Mmanuel Costa, a young thief sent from Sacramento county to the Boys and Girls' Aid Society in San Francisco, escaped from that institution and made his way to Rocklin, where he stole about $60.

E. F. Mullany has purchased the ranch and stock of Robert Belton, of Fort McDermitt, the consideration being $25,000. Mr. Belton, the Silver State is informed, intends to leave for the old country and spend the remainder of his days there.

Every county which is desirous of attracting to itself the attention of the visitors to California has either issued or is preparing to issue a pamphlet setting forth its advantages. Some of these little books contain much valuable information. Counties in Nevada should do likewise, especially Washoe.

Charles McDiell shipped a carload of work horses to San Francisco from Winnemucca Sunday. Horsemen pronounced them a fine lot of animals, all being young and well broken. Monday morning Charles A. Van Zandt, of Jordan Valley, Oregon, shipped two carloads of fine work and saddle horses from the same place.

INYO MARBLE.

Report of the Superintendent of the Inyo Marble Quarry—Work Accomplished.

The following particulars are taken from the annual report of Superintendent Luce of the Inyo Marble Company. The quarries are situated in Owens River Valley, Inyo county, near the shore of Owens Lake, and within half a mile of the track of the Carson and Colorado Railroad.

The company commenced operations at the quarry in September, 1886. At that time there was considerable uncertainty as to whether or not the marble would be found in a solid state that would permit the taking out of blocks of the dimensions required by the trade, as the whole surface of the mountain was covered with a layer of shattered rock so broken up as to be of little value. During the past year this shattered layer has been removed to the depth of about twenty feet and uncovering a solid ledge of pure white marble for a space of fifty feet along the face of the quarry, and running up the mountain side about forty feet. Three well developed layers have been opened, the first of the solid bed being four feet thick, the second nine feet and the third unknown, as the work has not yet proceeded far enough to determine its thickness. The quality and color improves as the depth of the workings are increased. Most of the samples shown at the late Mechanics' Fair were taken from near the surface, but were considered by the Committee of Awards worthy of the gold and silver medals.

Other improvements made during the year were the construction of a mill containing a 30-horse power engine, saws and rubbing bed for producing finished marble, office, well, lodgings for the men, and railroad from the quarry to the mill, and to connect with the C. & C. Railroad.

Enough has been done to partially develop the quarry of white marble and to obtain a few blocks of the colored varieties from the deposits belonging to the company in the vicinity, and show the great extent of the ledges and the superior quality of the stone. The quantity is inexhaustible and the Superintendent is confident that with improved machinery the quarry can supply the market on this coast for all time to the total exclusion of foreign and Eastern marble and compete in New York and elsewhere with the finer qualities of the colored and statuary marbles.

HEAVY CATTLE SHIPMENTS.—N. Bernstein & Co., of San Francisco, shipped from Idaho and Steens Mountain, Oregon, 506 head of cattle. They were contained in 23 cars and rested in Reno last night. They are on their way to San Jaro, southern California, where the firm have an extensive ranch. Tomorrow they will be followed by 10 carloads more from Hardin's home ranch near H. McDermott's, and 12 more carloads of Bernstein's, all of which are destined for the same place. The gentleman having Bernstein's cattle in charge said to a Journal reporter that in about two weeks hence they would ship 24 carloads more, or 650 head, and possibly hold them over for some time to feed in the Truckee valley.

BLOW THE HORN.—Dan Sobl desires to let the ladies of Reno know that when they hear a horn blown before their doors each morning, that the "sausage man" is there with his fresh goods for sale. To this he adds that the demand for sausage is so great that he was compelled to forego the sale of fresh meat. He will leave that to the local butchers. He has established an agency in Virginia City, and is ready to ship samples of his sausages to enterprising men desiring agencies in any of the towns along the line of the various railroads running out of Reno. Here is a chance for money-making.

SHIPPING WOOL.—Dan Wheeler yesterday shipped to Schubert, Beal & Co., San Francisco, 48 sacks of first-class wool, amounting in all to about 18,000 pounds. The funny part of this shipment is that the men who guarded, herded, drove to the corral and sheared the sheep, packed, weighed and loaded the wool on the cars yesterday, so that the genial Dan knows what he is shipping to market.

COMPLY WITH THE LAW.—We learn that the District Attorney, Pierce Evans Esq., has called the attention of the Sheriff to the violation of the gambling Act, and especially to that part which requires all games to be carried on in back rooms, and requests substantially that no licenses be issued to parties unless they literally comply with the provisions of the law.

RUBY VALLEY.—Jerry Moore came in Monday night from Ruby Valley and says that possibly owing to the vast number of cattle for sale so near San Francisco, no purchases have yet been made in that section, although the cattle were never in finer condition.

Sheriff Ullrich, of Carson, came down Sunday night and passed through to Truckee on a "still hunt," as it were. At midnight on Monday he arrived in Reno with a prisoner, and proceeded yesterday morning to Carson.

Alarming rumors have been in circulation lately concerning the state of J. C. Flood's health, which it was said had grown very much worse during the latter portion of the week. His physician says his case is very serious.

A STARTLING CONFESSION.

A Brother's Remorse Leads Him to Acknowledge His Sister's Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 24.—No criminal case of recent years has attracted so much attention in this city as that of Dr. J. Milton Bowers, who is now under sentence of death for the murder of his wife whom he was accused of killing to obtain insurance money on her life. Henry Benhayon, a brother of Mrs. Cecelia Bowers, the murdered woman was present at the long trial of her husband and heard the words of the Court that consigned Bowers to the gallows. Not until yesterday did his conscience taunt Benhayon into confessing himself the actual murderer of his sister.

Benhayon was found yesterday afternoon at a lodging house at 22 Geary street dead upon the floor of his room, while at his side was a half-emptied vial of the deadly cyanide of potassium. The tale is simply told. He had committed suicide. Beside him, also, were three missives, addressed, one to Dr. Bowers in the County Jail, another to a newspaper and the third to Coroner Stanton. The note to his brother-in-law read as follows:

CITY, October 22, 1897.

Dr. J. Milton Bowers, County Jail—Doctor: I only ask that you do not molest my mother, and they are not, as little is not, responsible for my acts. I made all reparations in my power. I likewise caution you against some of your friends who knew Cecelia as husband only should. Among them are C. W. McLennan, C. Eisenhimmel, H. Stern, J. W. Harbom, F. R. Ackerman, J. Horn and others. I cannot think of them now, but you will find some more of your friends when the memorandum book and the letter to you from Cecelia is found. I think you will find many of your diamonds changed for Parisian paste. Cecelia lost the money in stocks. Farewell. Yours, H. BENHAYON.

In his communication to Coroner Stanton, Benhayon had indeed confessed to having murdered his sister. While she was living with her husband, Dr. Bowers, at the Arcade House, he was constantly in attendance upon her. During her illness he administered the prescribed medicines, taking the opportunity to mix in a quantity of phosphorus with each, which finally caused death. Benhayon's purpose in killing his sister was to obtain possession of the insurance upon her life. Her husband, Dr. Bowers, had originally been made the beneficiary, but without his knowledge the wife had transferred that right to her brother, making him the person to whom all the money was to be paid. When the death of Mrs. Bowers occasioned such intense excitement, the murderous brother concealed the transfers and aided in the conviction of Dr. Bowers for the crime. "I must end my misery," was the wail which wound up the letter fraught with such awful interest.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. feb. 21-sw f-17

BEATS THE LOUISIANA LOTTERY.—For the next sixty days all those who purchase one dollar's worth of groceries at Haveron's Cash Store will receive a ticket in a drawing for a fine gold watch. This is certainly a liberal proposition and all groceries sold at this establishment are fresh and of the best quality, and are disposed of at the lowest retail price. All goods are warranted and if not as represented the purchase price will be refunded. Go and take your chances in the watch.

AUCTION.—I will sell at auction the remnant of stock of dry goods commencing Monday Oct. 24, at 2 p. m. and continue until all are sold.

C. W. BOOTON

Dr. Chas. W. Porterfield, the celebrated rupture specialist, remains only a few days longer at the Lake House, giving a last opportunity for those suffering from hernia. Go consult him before his departure for Southern California.

Closing out sale at auction of dry goods at C. W. Booton's, opposite Golden Eagle Hotel, commencing Monday at 2 p. m., Oct. 24.

What Is It?

That produces that beautifully soft complexion and leaves no trace of its application or injurious effects? Wisdom's Robertine. It not only cleanses the face, but it is pronounced by ladies of taste and refinement to be the most delightful toilet article ever produced. Warranted harmless and matchless. S. J. HODGKINS & CO., my 24 lyf Agents Va. St., Reno, Nev.

MISCELLANEOUS.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength, and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold ONLY in CANS.

250 Beautiful Lots For Sale!

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT AND A HOME

THE MOST LOVELY PORTION OF RENO.

Facing the Truckee—The Aristocratic Riverside Avenue Driveway—Splendid Sewerage—Healthy Location and Safe From Fire.

The proprietor is now ready to receive proposals for lots in Powning's Addition. The map gives a good idea of the Tract, which is situated between the Central Pacific Railroad and the Truckee River, and commences on the west at a point three blocks distant from Virginia Street, making it the most central and convenient of any portion of the rapidly growing town of Reno. Unlike any other part of the town this Addition faces the beautiful Truckee River and Riverside Avenue is certain to become the fashionable driveway of the country. The streets are 80 feet wide, while Riverside and Keystone Avenues are intended to be 100 feet in width. All alleys are 20 feet wide. The soil is a rich gravelly loam, and susceptible of the highest state of cultivation. Being situated as it is it is more safe from fire than any other section. The regular lots are 50x140 feet. The sewerage is perfect.

Before Buying Elsewhere Parties will do Well to Look at These Lots.

 RENO! Is the Railroad Center of Nevada. RENO Is the Educational Center of Ne- vada. RENO Is the Healthiest Town in Nevada. RENO Is Great, and Alfalfa is King! The Safest Investment IN THE STATE. RENO PROPERTY Is the Cheapest on the Coast in comparison with that of other cities.	Has no equal in Nevada or California for salubrity of climate, wealth of soil, di- versity of products and sta- bility. Situated in the very heart of the celebrated Truckee Meadows the future of Reno is assured. Reno is the City of Homes. There is not a house to rent in Reno. New buildings are occupied as fast as erected. Reno has advantages which no other town can equal. The climate is mild and gen- ial in Winter, and even and healthful in Summer. There are no excessively heated or severely cold terms, and while the days may be warm in Summer the nights are deliciously cool; in Winter sleigh-riding is the exception and not the rule. Facilities for irrigating surpass any in the State, and there is no failure of crops.
